✕ Valley, Byzantine Way, Aghia Kyriaki Monastery Hike

Interests: hiking, architecture, history, culture, outdoor activities

Start your hike with a short tour of Lefkes village. Located on a lush hill covered with olive and pine trees, Lefkes was the first capital of Paros. The village has traditional whitewashed houses and mills, Venetian architecture, and churches dating from the 15th century. From Lefkes, your hike will take you on a relatively easy circular route, covering half of the famed Byzantine trail, a stone-paved trail dating back to the Byzantine era and connects the village of Lefkes to Prodomos. Walking on age-old marble rocks, you will pass by old cottages, Byzantine stone-built bridges, mini-ravines and streams, olive groves, pastures, and pezoules - age-old terraced hillside fields. You will have the chance to admire century-old olive trees and spectacular views. Half-way to Prodomos, you will leave the Byzantine Way to enter an old footpath in the olive groves, with a narrow, winding footpath surrounded with verdant Mediterranean greenery and awe-inspiring views to the valley of Lefkes. You will arrive at the monastery of Agia Kyriaki, a typical, well-preserved specimen of the late medieval fort-like monasteries of the Cycladic islands, where you will explore its chapel, the inner courtyard, and living facilities.

✕ Parikia Cultural Walking Tour

Interests: history, culture, architecture, outdoor activities

Start your day of exploration with a guided tour in and around Parikia, the island's capital which has been inhabited since prehistoric times. Parikia is built amphitheatrically around the port and has beautiful Cycladic architecture, with whitewashed houses and colored wooden doors, windows, and balconies. At the entrance of the port, you will find the trademark of the island, a whitewashed windmill. You will visit the impressive of Panagia Ekatonpiliani or Our Lady of 100 Doors, considered one of the most important Byzantine monuments still standing in Greece and which also houses a museum, as well as other highlights in town, including the ancient cemetery and Agia Anna hill tracking down signs & remains from the town's millennia of history. You will stroll through winding alleys of the largest traditional settlement in the Cyclades, going through arched passageways and among clustered cube-like houses, centuries-old chapels, and remains of ancient buildings, to head to the site of the ancient temple of Athena at the terrace of the picturesque 13th century Venetian fort overlooking the bay of Parikia.
